

Dear Caroline,

W<sup>h</sup>at

Jamison & the rest are all at work about the 1st Aug. I tell you that you may have your influence for what town in Bristol Co you like. It is to be held by County, & the places pushed.
But it strikes me that if if the elit previous men of N. B. whom they are shown) circulate the true love any getting subscribers to all the work keep the cause. I ~~am~~ <sup>have</sup> ~~been~~ <sup>begin</sup> Gustave Beaumonts novel, for the outside. It turns out very good. I have a perfect memory in the work, I do it so well. I correct all the defects of collocation <sup>or</sup> in the original, & turn it, from good French into Elegant English. You may safely say the standard will be worth taking, <sup>this</sup> ~~not~~ year, were it only for the Flap doddle. All that & Heaven too. Mr. Rowley is turning out a Jewel. Called this morning, & gave me 10 fr, <sup>& gave</sup> <sup>I gave it to</sup> Lab. Bill & signed the call for Jan.

Hall. & took the paper away to get more signatures. Mrs. Abate called this morning. told me all about herself, husband, affairs, &c. and asked for Sam's pencil sketch, which I am to get & send to Miss Proby. They are all concord. Eliza has sent a long arrived to the Lib. an answer to little Allen who spluttered in the last about Fuller & Channing & Ware, a first-rate testimony Mary Lived to see, starved last night. Emma went to Cambridge for her & is to take her home with her this ~~Monday~~ <sup>Sunday, the 1st practicable day,</sup> ~~Monday~~. She looks very ill. Sally called yesterday in return & Missa of Emma, who had gone for her way to Cambridge) to leave a note of mine for tea the same evening. I entreated her to stay - she said she must call on Zebadiah in next street. I begged her & the Thornton who was with her to come back to tea. she hesitated but could not decline. Doubtless about getting back. I told her we should send her home of course. She wanted to but I think really felt too sick to be out at night. She looks like death. "So that man passed over": Tomorrow I shall lavish some more civilities. To-day Eliza comes in for the 2<sup>d</sup> hours.

Frank Cahol now there, seems to in Sally. She was out of town

And all his friends can do for him. Eliza writes to me that she has written to you about him. Don't think! a whole voyage! "The way of transgressors is hard." Mr Chapman is to and I go to Newton Saturday. Henry is to see the drawings on the corner with the Southwicks who have them Phil sends the weights to show them to at sometime. The "Hamburger" will shortly, I think, turn out Mr. Slavery - an Easton's book brings out the unregional quantities.
Mr. Robbins asking the Dr to sign the General hall paper. He replied
"Dear Mary I cannot sign your paper because I have no part or interest in the matter, & do not know that it would benefit the slave."
It is thought Mr. S Shaw will sign Dear Mary has. so has Robt Waltera Seir
